This image shows a single sheet of aged, yellowed paper with horizontal dashed lines, similar to a piece of stationery or a page from a ledger. At the very top, there is a solid yellow header band. Within this band, on the left side, is a small white rectangular box. Below the header, the main body of the paper is filled with horizontal dashed lines. Several red dots are scattered across the page, mostly aligned with the dashed lines. In the center-left area, the text "FM94.6" is printed in red. Further down, "98.5" appears in red. To the right of "98.5", the text "AM1206" is visible in black. Below that, "92.4" is printed in blue. Further down, "FM101.1" is shown in red. Near the bottom, "FM88.8" is printed in red, followed by "88.3" in red at the very bottom. There are also some faint, illegible markings near the top left.
